

IN THE CLAIMS:

1-25. (canceled)

26. (currently amended) A method of treating sepsis in a subject suffering from sepsis, wherein said sepsis is selected from the group consisting of gram-positive sepsis and gram negative sepsis, comprising

a) providing a reagent capable of blocking [[a]] C5a receptor, wherein said reagent is a monoclonal antibody that specifically binds to said C5a receptor; and

b) administering said reagent to [[a]] said subject, suffering from sepsis under conditions such that wherein said subject's survival is increased prolonged.

27. (original) The method of claim 26, wherein said administering results in a decrease in symptoms of sepsis in the subject.

28. (canceled)

29. (canceled)

30. (canceled)